as interest in the art of storytelling continues to grow many books have appeared on the subject but none have matched the scope and charm of the way of the storyteller first published in 1942 this classic work is unique in its blend of literary history criticism analysis personal anecdote and how to instructions sawyer examines storytelling as a folk art and a still living art tracing its evolution from the earliest narrative impulses that developed as stories were written down with simple suggestions she instructs the reader in the art of storytelling and freeing the creative imagination by disciplining the mind sawyer s guide also includes an engaging selection of international stories sure to enchant both children and adults the way of the storyteller also is an invaluable resource with a comprehensive reading and story list from ezra jack keats 2015 new illustrator honor recipient evan turk comes his debut work as author illustrator an original folktale that celebrates the power of stories and storytelling long long ago like a pearl around a grain of sand the kingdom of morocco formed at the edge of the great dry sahara it had fountains of cool refreshing water to quench the thirst of the desert and storytellers to bring the people together but as the kingdom grew the people forgot the dangers of the desert and they forgot about the storytellers too all but one young boy who came to the great square for a drink and found something that quenched his thirst even better wonderful stories as he listened to the last storyteller recount the endless drought and the glorious blue water bird he discovered the power of a tale well told acclaimed illustrator evan turk has created a stunning multidimensional story within a story that will captivate the imagination and inspire a new generation of young storytellers some years ago i heard miss shedlock tell stories in england her fine sense of literary and dramatic values her power in sympathetic interpretation always restrained within the limits of the art she was using and her understanding of educational values based on a wide experience of teaching all marked her as an artist in story telling she was equally at home in interpreting the subtle blending of wit and wisdom in daudet the folk lore philosophy of grimm or the deeper world philosophy and poignant human appeal of hans christian andersen then she came to america and for two or three years she taught us the difference between the nightingale that sings in the treetops and the artificial bird that goes with a spring cities like new york boston pittsburgh and chicago listened and heard if sometimes indistinctly the notes of universal appeal and children saw the arabian nights come true mama gave me a chance many children of today do not get to sit around the fire and hear their mothers narrate traditional stories not from books but from the heart she changed voices of the different characters and sometimes even sang to bring the stories to life i had to learn how to pay attention as there were no books for reference later if you do not pay attention and think about what i am telling you you will have nothing to teach your children when you become a parent mama said over and over she taught me how to think and figure out what i needed to learn from the stories she told i hope storytellers will be enriched by the stories mama told me when i was growing up and those i have written using her methodology to be a storyteller you need a rich bank of stories on various themes of life my intention is to enrich storytellers and to keep mama s memory she is the best teacher i have ever had each story has an introduction to let my readers know why mama told me that story or why i wrote that story there is room for creativity to bring the stories to life and suit the age group you are telling the story to all the stories in this book are educational and can be used for entertainment as well i hope you will enjoy and continue passing on the message you derive from each story to everyone you meet be happy always focusing on the figure of the storyteller this study breaks new ground in the approach to reading contemporary literature by identifying a growing interest in storytelling for the last thirty years contemporary fiction has been influenced by theoretical discourses textuality and writing only since the rise of postcolonialism have academic critics been more overtly interested in stories where high theory frameworks are less applicable however as we move through various contemporary contexts engaging with postcolonial identities and hybridity to narratives of disability and evolutionary accounts of group and individual survival a common feature of all is the centrality of story which posits both the idea of survival and the passing on of traditions the return of the storyteller in contemporary fiction closely examines this preoccupation with story and storytelling through a close reading of six contemporary international novelists that are either about actual storytellers or engage with the figure of the storyteller revealing how death of the author has given birth to the storyteller
